Baker distinguished himself by winning all four awards for the same movie, while Disney won for four different projects at the 1954 ceremony. (Bong Joon-Ho accepted four statues at the 2020 ceremony, but the win for best international feature was technically awarded to South Korea, and not him as an individual.)"Emilia Prez" had the most nominations this year with 13, including nods for best picture, best director, best writing and multiple acting nominations.Karla Sofia Gascnmade Oscar history when she became the first transgender woman to be nominated in any acting category when she received a best actress nomination for playing the film's title role. Her Oscar campaign, however, was marred by controversy after offensive posts she made on social media surfaced. The award for best actress ultimately went to Mikey Madison, who played the title role in "Anora."Zoe Saldaa who became the first American of Dominican descent to win an Oscar won best supporting actress, one of just two wins for "Emilia Prez" on Sunday night."Wicked," based on the hit Broadway musical, and "The Brutalist" both came into the night with 10 nominations each, and were also competing for best picture, best director and a slew of acting nominations. Adrien Brodywon his second best actor Oscar for his role as architect Lszl Tih in "The Brutalist." When Brody won his first Oscar for 2002's "The Pianist" at age 29, he became the youngest person to win the award.Timoth Chalametwas also nominated for best actor for his performance as the iconic folk singer Bob Dylan in "A Complete Unknown," and had been hoping to break Brody's record. Also nominated in the category were Ralph Fiennes, who starred in "Conclave," Colman Domingo, and Sebastian Stan, who he came to become the first person to ever win an Oscar for playing the sitting U.S. president had he gone home with the award.Former "Lol Rober" and "The Tonight Show" host Conan O'Brienhelmed this year's ceremony. "Wicked" and "Emilia Prez" are two of 10 films up for the night's biggest prize, and both feature choreographed musical numbers. The last time two musicals were nominated for best picture was 1969 with "Fanny Hill" and "Oliver." "Oliver" ultimately took home best picture, alongside best director, best score, best sound and best art direction. Notably, that year was also the first, and only, time that there was a tie for best actress. Barbra Streisand and Katharine Hepburn shared the award for "Funny Girl" and "The Lion in Winter," respectively. The last time two musicals were nominated for best picture was "Chicago" in 2003. Frazer Harrison | Getty ImagesTwo best actor nominees are competing for Oscar records, as noted by the BBC.Adrien Brody is hoping to go 2-for-2 in the category with his nomination for "The Brutalist" this year, after his win in 2003 for "The Pianist." He would be the first person to do so. Seven others have won two or more acting Oscars without losing one, but none have done so in the best actor category. Brody already holds the distinction of being the youngest best actor winner, but Timoth Chalamet is looking to capture that title this year. Chalamet is nominated for his role in "A Complete Unknown." The 29-year-old would be about nine months younger than Brody was when he won two decades ago. Russell LeungAs Hollywood celebrates the best of cinema, it's also keeping its focus on wildfire recovery after devastating blazes left thousands homeless. "We had well over 150 employees who lost their homes," said Disney CEO Bob Iger during a red carpet interview Sunday. "It was important for us not only to take care of them, but to take care of the community that we live and work in." "I will say that while LiA is resilient, it's also going to take a long time to get over this, particularly for those who lost so much," he added. Iger was at the Oscars supporting his company's many nods this year including eight nominations for "A Complete Unknown," and two for "A Real Pain." Disney's latest Pixar film "Inside Out 2," which was the highest-grossing film domestically in 2024, is up for best animated feature. The company's 20th Century Studios is also nominated for best visual effects of "Alien: Romulus" and "Kingdom of the Planet of the Apes." Sarah WhittenOscar nominees get a little more than a nod. This year, the swag bag for nominees is valued at almost $220,000, according to CNBC Make It's Nicolas Vega. The "Everybody Wins" gift bag is from Los Angeles-based marketing company Distinctive Assets, not the actual Academy, and it includes goodies like hotel stays and premium skincare. See what else goes to every nominee, whether they win or not. Sara SalinasCynthia Erivo at the 97th Oscars held at the Dolby Theatre on March 2, 2025 in Hollywood, California. Gilbert Flores | Penske Media | Getty ImagesCynthia Erivo's best actress nomination has put her one step closer to a coveted Hollywood feat an EGOT. An exclusive club, EGOT winners have won the four biggest awards in the entertainment business: an Emmy, a Grammy, an Oscar and a Tony. Erivo, 38, has already snared a Tony for best leading actress in a musical for playing Celie in "The Color Purple" on Broadway. She snagged a Grammy for best musical theater album for the Broadway cast recording of that musical as well as an Emmy for outstanding musical performance in a daytime program alongside her Broadway costars of "The Color Purple." The actress and singer was previously nominated for two Academy Awards: best actress and best original song for 2019's "Harriet." If she doesn't pull off the win this year, Erivo is already expected to be in the running for best original song at next year's Oscar ceremony, as "Wicked: For Good" will feature new music. Sarah WhittenIn the nearly 100-year history of the Academy Awards, films designated into the horror genre have struggled to win over Academy voters when it comes to the top prize. Horror films have long been awarded statues for their technical achievements in sound, make-up and production design and even for the performances of its actors. But only seven have been nominated for the biggest honor of the ceremony, best picture. "Silence of the Lambs" is the only horror flick to ever hoist that golden trophy and that was all the way back in 1992. This year, "The Substance" joins "Silence of the Lambs" alongside "The Exorcist," "Get Out," "Jaws," "The Sixth Sense" and "Black Swan" as the seventh horror film to be nominated for best picture. The film is also nominated for best original screenplay, best director, best makeup and hairstyle and best actress, for Demi Moore. Sarah Whitten(L-R) Demi Moore, Zoe Saldana and Cynthia Erivo attend the 97th Annual Oscars Nominees Dinner at the Academy Museum of Motion Pictures on February 25, 2025 in Los Angeles, California. Emma McIntyre | Wireimage | Getty ImagesFor the first time since the 1978 Oscars, according to the BBC, every film with a best actress nominee also received a nod for best picture. This year's Actress in a Leading Role contenders are Cynthia Erivo in "Wicked," Karla Sofia Gascn in "Emilia Prez," Mikey Madison in "Anora," Demi Moore in "The Substance" and Fernanda Torres in "Im Still Here." In 1978, the best actress nominees were Diane Keaton in "Annie Hall," Anne Bancroft and Shirley MaLaine in "The Turning Point," Jane Fonda in "Julia" and Marsha Mason in "The Goodbye Girl." Keaton ultimately won the award. The feat was even more impressive at the time because there were only five best picture nominees. That number expanded to 10 starting in 2010. Russell LeungTwo directors are aspiring to become the first person to win four Oscars for the same film. Sean Baker is up for the best picture, best director, best original screenplay and best film editing awards for "Anora," while Jacques Audiard could win Oscars for best picture, best director, best adapted screenplay and best original song for "Emilia Prez." Only one person has won four Oscars in one night, according to the BBC: Walt Disney in 1953, though for four different films. "Parasite" director Bong Joon Ho won best director, best picture and best original screenplay in 2020 but missed out on the movie's best international feature film win since that award is officially given to the country where the film originated, not any single contributor. Russell LeungSince the Academy added a best animated feature category to the Oscar ballot in 2002, Disney's animation studios have lapped up a record 15 awards out of the 23 that have been doled out. In recent years, however, the Academy's voting body has opted to reward other studio's work with the top prize. In 2023, Netflix and Guillermo del Toro's "Pinocchio" took home the prize, and in 2024 Studio Ghibli's "The Boy and the Heron" won. The stiffer competition is less of a critique of Disney's recent string of films and more a showcase of how dynamic the animation space has become in recent years. This year, Disney's "Inside Out 2" is up against Latvian animated film "Flow" as well as Madman Entertainment's "Memoir of a Snail," Netflix's "Wallace & Gromit: Vengeance Most Fowl" and Universal's "The Wild Robot." In Disney and Pixar's "Inside Out 2," Joy, Sadness, Anger, Fear and Disgust meet new emotions. Disney | PixarAcademy Award-nominated features are not always the top-grossing box office features of a given year. However, for the 2025 ceremony, big blockbuster films received a number of nominations for top prizes. "Inside Out 2," which was the highest-grossing film of 2024 is up for best animated feature. The flick snared $653 million at the domestic box office and more than $1 billion globally. In the best picture race "Wicked" and "Dune: Part Two" were box office standouts. Ticket sales for "Wicked" represent more than half of the total box office of all 10 best picture nominees, with $472.8 million in receipts. Meanwhile, "Dune: Part Two" accounted for 30% of the domestic best picture haul, collecting $282.7 million. Globally, the 10 best picture films, not including "Emilia Prez," because Netflix does not share box office data for its limited-run films, topped $900 million at the domestic box office and $1.7 billion globally. "He is the perfect person to help lead our global celebration of film with his brilliant humor, his love of movies, and his live TV expertise," Academy CEO Bill Kramer and Academy President Janet Yang said in a November statement. Patrick T. Fallon | Ap | Getty ImagesThe 97th Academy Awards will air on ABC on Sunday, March 2, at 7 p.m. Eastern Time, sticking with the earlier start time that began with last year's ceremony. ABC has broadcast the show more than 50 times and is set to do so through 2028. The Oscars will also stream live on Hulu for the first time. As in previous years, the ceremony will stream on online TV services like YouTube TV and Fubo, and it will be available to watch on ABC's website and app. According to the Academy, over 200 territories around the world will also broadcast the Oscars. Local listings are available on the Academy's website. Russell Leung A lucky group of people have gone home with Oscar gold. Anora, the dramatic comedy from director Sean Baker, was the nights big winner at the 97th Academy Awards, taking home five awards including best picture and best actress for star Mikey Madison. Hosted for the first time by Conan O'Brien, the Oscars ceremony brought to a close an award season overshadowed by January's Los Angeles wildfires that devastated the city and affected many in the industry. The show began with a special package of film clips that paid tribute to the city and ended with We Love LA. A chill-inducing performance by Wicked stars Ariana Grande and Cynthia Erivo followed. Organizers have long said the show would go on in the midst of the regions recovery, though the annual nominees luncheon was cancelled and nomination deadlines were adjusted. Going into Sundays ceremony, Netflix musical/crime drama hybrid Emilia Prez led with 13 nominations. Oz-set Wicked and The Brutalist, which stars Adrien Brody as a Holocaust survivor and architect, follow with 10 nods each. The Brutalist ended the night with three awards, including best actor for Adrien Brody. Wicked earned two wins, including best production design and best costume design.
